On February 23, within the canonical visit that Sister Carmen Mora, Superior General, is holding a special, festive celebration for the communities of the Ivory Coast, which took place in the small town of Komborodougou, full of emotion and simplicity and also full of meaning for the Dispensary that the Sisters of Charity of Saint Anne own in the aforementioned city. The words of gratitude from Sr. Carmen and other Sisters of the community, of the Government Delegate, of the civil and religious authorities of the place, of the health personnel, were many and cordial, never empty but full of emotion and meaning: "this is a house of health and joy of those who are cured and those who promote the healing and prevention of the disease", "The God who heals, blesses those who enter this place and those who live in it", "thank God for those who have made improvement possible From this place"...
